

Media data "Die bunte Christine"

„Die bunte Christine“ („Colourful Christine“) is a german travel blog about travelling within europe. The main focus is on Lake Maggiore, Italy, London and Germany. But I also love discovering new travel destinations far from my main focus and also write about travel literature and everything else that fits the topic of „travel“ (e.g. music tips, gift tips for globetrotter, travel arrangements). The word „bunt“ (colourful) stands for multifaceted.

I live in Bochum and am a full professional. I am ...

... Journalist with many years of professional experience in the print and online sector.

... trained editor (PR departement) with extensive marketing knowledge.

... a literary scientist.
